TURNING GRAY
AND THREATENED
WITH BALDNESS
The Danger is Averted by Using
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

OF A GARDEN.

Within my garden bounds are set
Sweet memory and sad regret,
And where my orchard blossoms glow
The winds of life forever blow.

Here falls the rain, here springs the seed.
The perfect flower, the perfect weed,

In equal sunlight, satisfied.

TRILBY

Schellville, Jan. 31, 1896.

[illegible] some one [illegible] loses no chance to tell you so he is almost as good as a mirror.

"Tell me the truth," she would say. "What is the color of my eyes?"

"They are like dewy forgetmenots."

"And my skin is not quite black?"

"You know that your forehead is whiter than freshly fallen snow, and your cheeks are like blush roses."

"How about my lips?"

"Cherries are pale beside them."

"And my teeth, if you please?"

"Grains of rice are not as white."

"But my ears—should I be ashamed of them?"

"Yes, if you would be ashamed of two little pink shells among your pretty curls."

And so on endlessly, she delighted, he still more charmed, for his words came from the depth of his heart, and she had the pleasure of hearing herself praised, he the delight of seeing her. So their love grew more deep and tender every hour, and the day that he asked her to marry him she blushed certainly, but it was not with anger. But, unluckily, the news of their happiness reached the wicked queen, whose only pleasure was to torment others, and Jacinta more than any one else, on account of her beauty.

A little while before the marriage Jacinta was walking in the orchard one evening when an old crone approached, asking for alms, but suddenly jumped back with a shriek as if she had stepped on a toad, crying, "Heavens, what do I see?"

"What is the matter, my good woman? What is it you see? Tell me."

"The ugliest creature I ever beheld."

"Then you are not looking at me," said Jacinta, with innocent vanity.

"Alas! yes, my poor child, it is you. I have been a long time on this earth, but never have I met any one so hideous as you!"

"What! Am I ugly?"

"A hundred times uglier than I can tell you."

"But my eyes"—

"They are a sort of dirty gray. But that would be nothing if you had not such an outrageous squint!"

"My complexion"—

"It looks as if you had rubbed coal dust on your forehead and cheeks."

"My mouth"—

"It is pale and withered, like a faded flower."

"My teeth"—

"If the beauty of teeth is to be large and yellow, I never saw any so beautiful as yours."

"But, at least, my ears"—

"They are so big, so red and so misshapen under your coarse elf locks that they are revolting. I am not pretty myself, but I should die of shame if mine were like them." After this last blow the old witch, having repeated what the queen had taught her, hobbled off, with a harsh croak of laughter, leaving poor Jacinta dissolved in tears, prone on the ground beneath the apple trees.

Nothing could divert her mind from her grief. "I am ugly—I am ugly!" she repeated constantly. It was in vain that Valentin assured and reassured her with the most solemn oaths.

"Let me alone! You are lying out of pity. I understand it all now. You never loved me. You are only sorry for me. The beggar woman had no interest in deceiving me. It is only too true—I am ugly. I do not see how you can endure the sight of me."

To undeceive her he brought people from far and near. Every man declared that Jacinta was created to delight the eyes. Even the woman said as much, though they were less enthusiastic. But the poor child persisted in her conviction that she was a repulsive object, and when Valentin pressed her to name their wedding day, "I, your wife!" cried she. "Never! I love you too dearly to burden you with a being so hideous as I am." You can fancy the despair of the poor fellow so sincerely in love. He threw himself on his knees, he prayed, he supplicated; she answered still that she was too ugly to marry him.

What was he to do? The only way to give the lie to the old woman and prove the truth to Jacinta was to put a mirror before her. But there was no such thing in the kingdom, and so great was the terror inspired by the queen that no workman dared make one.

"Well, I shall go to court," said the lover in despair. "Harsh as our mistress is, she cannot fail to be moved by the tears and the beauty of Jacinta. She will retract, for a few hours at least, his cruel edict which has caused our trouble."

It was not without difficulty that he persuaded the young girl to let him take her to the palace. She did not like to show herself and asked of what use would be a mirror, only to impress her more deeply with her misfortune. But when he wept her heart was moved, and she consented to please him.

"What is all this?" said the wicked queen. "Who are these people? And what do they want?"

"Your majesty, you have before you the most unfortunate lover on the face of the earth."

"Do you consider that a good reason for coming here to annoy me?"

"Have pity on me."

"What have I to do with your love affairs?"

"If you would permit a mirror"—

The queen rose to her feet, trembling with rage. "Who dares to speak to me of a mirror?" she said, grinding her teeth.

"Do not be angry, your majesty, I beg of you, and deign to hear me. This young girl whom you see before you, so fresh and pretty, is the victim of a strange delusion. She imagines that she is ugly."

"Well," said the queen, with a malicious grin, "she is right. I never saw a more hideous object."

Jacinta, at these cruel words, thought she would die of mortification. Doubt was no longer possible; she must be ugly. Her eyes closed; she fell on the steps of the throne in a deadly swoon.

But Valentin was affected very differently. He cried out loudly that her majesty must be mad to tell such a lie. He had no time to say more. The guards seized him, and at a sign from the queen the headsman came forward. He was always beside the throne, for she might need his services at any moment.

"Do your duty," said the queen, pointing out the man who had insulted her. The executioner raised his gleaming ax just as Jacinta came to herself and opened her eyes. Then two shrieks pierced the air. One was a cry of joy, for in the glittering steel Jacinta saw herself, so charmingly pretty, and the other a scream of anguish as the wicked soul of the queen took flight, unable to bear the sight of her face in the impromptu mirror.—From the French in Short Stories.

Punishing a Bell.

The Kamaoulie Koloko, or bell, is one of the most curious sights in Tobolsk. This bell is called by the Russians "the bell with the ear torn off" and is kept in a kind of shed near the archbishop's palace, where its romantic history is always to be heard. In the sixteenth century Prince Dimitri, the rightful heir to the Russian throne, was deposed by a revolt headed by Boris Godunoff, who was then proclaimed czar. The seat of the Russian government was at Uglich, and there Dimitri was sent to be under the immediate control of the unlawful ruler.

The usurper, fearing that the populace might awake to the claims of the young prince, planned his assassination, and he was one day stabbed in the yard, none of the bystanders showing the slightest disposition to help him.

A priest, however, who saw the crime from the cathedral belfry, immediately commenced to toll the great bell, which was only rung on such occasions as the coronation of the czar.

The czar, furious at this expression of reproach, commanded that the priest should be tortured and executed, and that the bell should be pulled down and placed beside the body of its ringer. The order was fulfilled, and the bell was beaten by the whole populace headed by the czar himself.

In those days Siberian exiles were tortured before setting out on their journey by having their nostrils torn off with redhot pinchers. It was decreed that the bell should be exiled to Tobolsk, but as it had no nostrils the ruler of all the Russias commanded, with grim humor, that one of its clappers should be removed in order to indicate its disgrace.—London Tit-Bits.

Tips Expected For Free Shining.

Many retail shoe dealers have in their stores a porter whose duty it is to polish the shoes of customers free of charge.

A movement is now on foot among some of the barbers to establish the same custom in connection with their business, and it will be no surprise if the new year finds signs hanging in some of the shops reading, "Shoes polished free of charge."

Of course those who start the custom will have a large run of new trade, 25 per cent of which they will retain, after the custom becomes generally established, if good barbers are employed.

A shoe dealer who was one of the first to establish the custom said the cost is practically nothing after the original outlay for chairs and brushes, as the colored porter is well paid by the tips he receives.

It is contended by some of the barbers that the porter would be well paid for his trouble by tips and the customer would feel that he had saved money by getting shaved there, as no one considers money given away in tips as money spent.—Chicago Journal.

A DOG THAT REASONED.

He Knew When It Was Safe to Sleep on His Master's Bed.

No one that knew Bombshell ever doubted that he reasoned and thought, but occasionally I would find a stranger who was not inclined to believe it, and then I would tell him the following story: My parlor was a front casemate which opened by an arch into my bedroom, a back casemate. A casemate may be described as a room in the wall of a fort, generally intended, in war time, to hold a gun or powder, while in time of peace many of them, like mine, are fitted up for use as quarters for officers and soldiers.

Bombshell had his own bed in the back casement, but he preferred my bed and would use it whenever he could. I had tried to break him of the habit, but had not been successful.

One day he came in wet and muddy, and, as usual, curled up on my white counterpane. The result was awful. As much as I hated to do so, I felt obliged to give him a thrashing.

I never caught him on my bed again. He would still get on it; but, no matter how quietly I came in, I would always find him on the floor, though I could see from the rumpled condition of the bed that he had been on it, and often the spot where he had slept would still be warm.

One evening I went out, leaving Bombshell lying by the parlor stove. Out of curiosity I peeked through the half turned slats of my shutters and watched him. From my position I was able to see the whole of both of my rooms.

For awhile Bombshell did not move; then he raised his head and looked at the door; finally he got up, stretched himself, yawned sleepily, walked to the bed, jumped up, and put his fore paws on it. Standing in this position, a thought struck him, and he said to himself:

"Suppose that my master hasn't gone? He will catch me and then I shall get a licking. I'll go and make certain that he is not coming back."

I know that he said this because he took his paws off the bed, walked cautiously back to the front door, and, with his ear close to the crack, he listened. At last, satisfied that I had really gone, he trotted back to the bed, jumped on it, curled up and went to sleep.

After such a clever act I thought that he had earned his sleep, so I went away and left him.—St. Nicholas.

What a Kurd Is Like.

In color they are usually no darker, and often not nearly so dark, as southern Europeans. The eyebrows and lashes and eyes are generally black, and nose aquiline and fine, and the mouth well formed. The face is long and oval, while in stature a medium height seems to be general. The chin is shaved, the mustache alone being left, and over it no end of trouble is taken with comb and wax. The hair is usually shaved along the top of the crown, but left long on either side, though little or nothing of it is visible, owing to the peculiar and characteristic manner in which the men deck their heads. The Kurd's costume is distinctly his own, and except in the south, where he has come more or less under Persian influence, he never abandons it. A high silk pointed cap crowns the head, round which is woven a number of silk scarfs and handkerchiefs in skillfully arranged disorder.

The favorite colors for these turbans are dark claret and gold, with here and there a narrow stripe of some brilliant hue. The rough fringes are left hanging down, as often as not covering the eyes and ears of the wearer and adding not a little to his fantastic appearance. Over a white linen shirt, with sleeves that end in points more than a yard long, so that they touch the ground, a silk coat is worn, crushed strawberry being the favorite color, though cherry color and white satin are almost equally common. These coats are made collarless and open at the neck and fold across the breast, being held in place by a wide silk sash skillfully folded and intertwined. In this sash the long pipe and curved dagger are thrust.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Aroma and Bouquet In Wines.

"Aroma and bouquet," said a well known wine expert, "are too often taken to mean the same thing in wine. Flavor pertains especially to the lingering aftertaste of wine when swallowed. Aroma and bouquet appeal only to the smell, and the former exists in the grape itself, while bouquet only manifests itself long after fermentation is completed. Bouquet is never present except in the purest wines. It seems to arise from a union of several agreeable odors, and any mixture would surely destroy it. There are no truly fine wines without a strikingly marked agreeable bouquet, and where all other qualities are of equal perfection the bouquet makes the distinction that gives to the wine possessing it always the preference."—New York Sun.

Knew What He Would Do.

It was a Gardiner youth of very tender age who, when asked recently by his maternal parent the solemn question, "What would you do if mamma were taken away?" quickly blurted out, "I would take my meals at Mrs. Haley's." The lad's worldly response knocked the pathos out of the scene in double quick order.—Bangor News.

The Hat at the Theater Yet Again.

The Man Behind—Pardon me, miss. I can see nothing owing to your hat.

The Woman In Front—True! There is nothing owing. I have paid for it in full.—Philadelphia Record.

Virginia is becoming important as a manufacturing state, having 59,591 manufacturing hands, who make a product valued at $88,363,824.

"I would die for you!" passionately exclaimed the rich old suitor, and the practical girl calmly asked him, "How soon?"

COUNTY NEWS ITEMS.

GLEANED DURING THE PAST WEEK.

The new railroad drawbridge at Petaluma is finished. The crew of bridge-builders worked Sunday to get trains through on schedule time Monday.

Lizzie Batton of Bennett Valley swallowed a dose of concentrated lye Wednesday. She is a girl only two years old. Her mouth and throat were badly burned by the liquid.

Josiah Heath Benson Sr., an old resident of Petaluma was buried there Sunday. Deceased was 77 years of age and was a native of Maryland. He came to California in early days and settled in East Petaluma.

Harry Maynard of Petaluma has been held by Judge King, under bonds in the sum of $500, to answer to a charge of attempting to commit murder in shooting Winnie Gossage near the Fair ranch a few months ago.

Owing to the transferring across the river below Petaluma, a large amount of heavy freight which cannot be handled at present by the railway, is accumulating all along the Donahue line. In order to catch up, special freight trains will be put on.

There was a happy gathering at the residence of Capt. and Mrs. P. N. Stofen in Santa Rosa Tuesday. It was a party given in honor of Mrs. Stofen's mother, Mrs. Tieson, who celebrated her eightieth birthday. "Grandma," as all her friends love to call her, is one of the brightest old ladies in Sonoma county.

The county officers in some of the southern counties of the State have banded together and raised $85,000 for the purpose of fighting the law in regard to officials holding office four years, which they claim has been virtually decided by the Supreme Court as unconstitutional. They declare they will hold their offices if money can do it.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

The Preacher and Editor.

A preacher came at a newspaper man this way, says an exchange: "You editors dare not tell the truth. If you did, you could not live; your newspaper would be a failure." The editor replied: "You are right. And the minister, who at all times and under all circumstances tells the truth about his members, alive or dead, will not occupy his pulpit more than one Sunday, and then he will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The press and pulpit go hand in hand with whitewash brushes and pleasant words, magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit, the pen and the gravestone are the great saint triumvirate. And the great preacher went away very thoughtful, while the editor turned to his work and told about the surpassing beauty of the bride, while in fact she was as homely as a hedge fence.

Alaska's gold output for 1895 is estimated to be $3,000,000. Of this amount $900,000 has been obtained from placer mining, chiefly along the Yukon river. Mr. Swineheart says there are fifteen mills, with a total capacity of 500 stamps, in operation.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of the Pacific, held in San Francisco last week, it was decided to close the Napa College and transfer its facilities and patronage to the San Jose College. The College at Napa has not been paying running expenses.

You are all familiar with the story of the defense at the battle of New Orleans and how Gen. Jackson used cotton bales with such wonderful results. That incident has probably suggested many experiments. Last winter, during a heavy snow storm, a French regiment built a fort of snow and tested it in comparison with earthworks. To their astonishment they found that a six feet thick snow wall was practically bullet proof.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

A NIGHT DREAM.

BY NEMO.

I heard a crying in the night,
As of some wailing mother child;
Upon the wind it rose and fell
In broken accents strange and wild.

Far out across the marsh I looked,
To where the low, black clouds were met
In dim commingling with the earth,
All dark, for now the moon was set.

It hovered through the sighing trees,
And then, in some drear, swampy place,
It seemed to loose itself and die
In anguished fear, with smothered face.

And then a cry more wild and strange
Came muffled, dismal from the bog,
As if some form of life, part man
Part beast, with howl of moon-struck dog.

Unto the night it mumbled low,
That but one wail had passed it's lair;
While yesternight three dying groans
Had been it's only meager fare.

But night was silent as the tombs
When naught but old men fill the graves;
She gloomed the clouds a darker hue,
And caused the squids to ink the waves.

Then from the west, far down the stretch
That lengthened from my frightened eye,
There came a moan of great despair
That nations' voice when heroes die.

It tried to rise above the fen,
But numb it's pinions were as death,
And down upon the waste it sunk
There floundered vain and gasped for breath.

My ear now caught the chilling cry
The thing, with shape of beast and man,
Was wont to make as o'er the mud
And slime to meet the moan it ran.

It found and glutted full it's maw,
Then backward tracked into its mire;
The swashing of the ooze I heard
Mixed all with growlings of it's ire,

But now athwart the dead of night
There passed a livid, burning flash;
And thunder rolled above the marsh
In one reverberating crash.

Dread Terror sprang from out the cloud
And stalked o'er all the fetted mire,
He brandished high his thunder club
And hurled the elements of fire.

Quivering fear shot through the thing
That since had crunched the dying moan,
Then Terror saw it hiding low
And hurling lightning stretched it prone.

Then bounding on a troubled cloud
That drooped upon the reeking earth,
He hurried to the upper realms
As day was waking to its birth.

Pursued by a Demon.

How many suicides, think you, reader, have been committed by persons driven distraught and hunted to their doom by the demon of chronic ill health? Countless. For instance, we know, do we not, that hypochondriasis is a monomania—a sort of minor madness produced by chronic dyspepsia? Again, insomnia, or sleeplessness, often a result of the same cause, culminates in a derangement of the reasoning faculties. It is, therefore, of momentous consequence to prevent the arrival of disease at its chronic phase, when it daily and nightly scourges the sufferer to a dangerously uncertain goal. No medicine known to science as a means of arresting the maladies to which it is adopted, exists equal to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among these complaints are chronic indigestion and insomnia, kidney and rheumatic ailments, constipation and liver trouble. Appetite is improved by the Bitters, the blood fertilized, and bodily substance and vigor increased by it.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

THE STORM KING.

He Turns Loose His Heavenly Batteries and Belches Forth Thunder and Lightning.

The storm which visited this valley last Sunday was the heaviest ever experienced by the "oldest resident." In the afternoon the lowering clouds suddenly turned loose a perfect deluge of rain which fell in torrents for an hour or so. The precipitation was accompanied by vivid flashes of ziz-zag lightning and loud, prolonged peals of thunder that shook many houses in town and caused windows to rattle. The thunder caused animals to quake with fear and many women and children were badly frightened. So terrific was the concussion of the atmospheric discharges that in some instances men were thrown off their feet. R. B. Thomas, who was driving his horses out of the storm from a field near his house, was knocked down by a streak of lightning which struck the ground a few feet distant from where he was standing. Fortunately he was not struck by the flash and instantly picked himself up none the worse for his adventure.

During the continuance of the storm, which raged with great fury for over an hour, many of the roads in the valley were converted into miniature rivers and Sonoma and other creeks rose with great rapidity.

The Rose, Tubbs and Jones ranches, in the tule lands south of town, were badly inundated, but the big flood gates, which carried off the water rapidly after the storm, prevented damage to the growing crops on those places.

MORELLO.

The Celebrated Running Horse Attached.

Morello, the celebrated running horse, valued at $35,000, which has been stabled the past year in Sonoma among the speedy horses belonging to J. B. Chase, was seized by Sheriff Allen last Thursday, on an attachment levied by Frank Van Ness of San Francisco, who claims to own the animal. Morello was taken from the Chase stables by Sheriff Allen and placed temporarily in charge of Granville Harris, pending a decision in the attachment suit.

Deputy County Clerk.

Judge Breitenbach of this place has been appointed a Deputy County Clerk for registraiion purposes by County Clerk Fulton. Parties residing in Sonoma Township who desire their names put on the Great Register for the forthcoming election can now have the matter attended to by Judge Breitenbach, thus obviating a journey to the County Seat.

Transfer of Real Estate.

Mrs. Catherine Vasquez has transferred to her daughter, Miss Inez M. Vasquez, her property in this place, consisting of lots 50, 49 and 64, part of lots 65 and 68 and certain strips formerly streets. Mrs. Vasquez, however, in the deed, which was recorded this week, reserves a life estate in the property with the right to sell.

Personal Mention.

Thos. Linton of Forestville is visiting friends in this place.

Mrs. Schroader of San Francisco visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Lutgens this week.

Mrs. Gaines, accompanied by her son Clark, visited the County Seat last Thursday.

Miss Kate Lewis has returned to her home in Santa Rosa after a pleasant visit with her aunt, Mrs. Tate.

Wm. Durant, manager of Judge Halstead's ranch, visited San Francisco last Sunday and Monday.

Miss Stella Johnson, after a several days' visit with her friend Miss Clara Cheney has returned to San Francisco.

At a meeting of the members of the Sonoma Valley Concert Orchestra held last Thursday evening it was decided to give a grand ball in this place some time during the month of May. The music will be furnished by the old Sonoma Valley Band, recently disorganized, and it will be its last appearance in Sonoma. The Concert Orchestra, however, which takes its place will be improved from time to time under the direction of its leader, Mr. Hugh Maxwell.

HIGH SCHOOL ELECTION.

Svengali and the Trilbys Carry Everything Before Them.

The hypnotic influence of Svengali was made manifest at the election held in this valley last Saturday to decide the proposition as to whether or not the old College building on Broadway should be purchased for a High School. Having the endorsement of every member of the High School Board, the proposition was carried by a good majority.

Six months ago a majority of the Trustees were dead set against buying the building, but Svengali as soon as he was thrown in contact with the obstreperous members made his influence felt, and it has been facetiously said that he hypnotized and eventually made Trilbys of them all. However that may be, the Trustees stood up in solid phalanx in favor of the purchase and the opponents of the proposition were routed horse, foot and dragoons, and the man with the glassy eye rejoiceth.

The election, taken all in all, was a good-natured contest and no bitter feelings were engendered, as those for and against the proposition accorded to each other the right to express their individual opinions in regard to the matter and to vote as they pleased.

The High School Board is composed for the most part of honest and conscientious citizens of this valley who have the interests of the school at heart and we are sure they will use their best endeavors to promote its future usefulness.

It is the intention of the Trustees, as soon as the building passes into their hands, to improve the same and make it an ornament to the valley.

The proposition was carried by the following vote :

Precinct.	Yes.	No.
Sonoma	60	63
San Luis	18	10
Harvey	18	11
Watmaugh	6	2
Flowery	15	0
Huichica	7	2
Glen Ellen	22	2
Dunbar	15	0
Enterprise	7	14
Totals	168	104

Majority for building, 64.

KIND WORDS.

What the County Papers Think of the "Index-Tribune."

The INDEX-TRIBUNE is the best local paper in Sonoma county.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

Sonoma City has one paper, the INDEX-TRIBUNE—too good a paper for the support it receives.—Healdsburg Enterprise.

While not personally acquainted with the advantages offered at Sonoma for the newspaper business, it strikes us that the INDEX-TRIBUNE fills the field admirably well.—Cloverdale Revielle.

For seventeen years Sonoma has had one good local paper, the INDEX-TRIBUNE, and the town will hardly permit the existence of two weeklies.—Sebastopol Times.

Ran off a Bridge.

Freddie, the eldest son of E. K. Stevenot, had a narrow escape one night last week. He started to drive to the depot to meet his father. Upon reaching a point on the road near the Harasztby place, the night being a dark and stormy one, he ran off a small bridge and buggy, horse and driver were dumped into the raging torrents of the stream, which was running bank full. He held on to the lines and the rushing waters righting the buggy, he applied the whip to the horse and was soon landed on terra firma. He escaped without injury but got a good ducking. Bridges without side rails, and there are quite a number in this valley, are a menace to life and limb on dark and stormy nights, and it is a wonder that accidents similar to the above are not more frequent. Every bridge, both big and small, should be provided with side rails.

A Unique Social.

All who attended their own birthday party last night at the Congregational Church lecture room had a delightful time. A select literary programme was presented and choice refreshments were furnished by the Ladies' Aid Society, all of which was much appreciated by the invited guests, who responded to the rather unique invitation sent out, of which the following is a copy :

"This Birthday Party is given to you,
'Tis something novel, 'tis something new ;
We send you each a little sack,
Please either send or bring it back
With as many cents as years you are old,
We promise the number shall never be told.
Kind friends will give you something to eat,
And others will furnish a literary treat ;
The "Ladies' Aid," with greeting most hearty,
Feel sure you'll attend your own birthday party."

A movement is on foot to levee Sonoma creek so as to protect property in and about Embarcadero from the raging waters of that stream which of late years overflows its banks and inundates the surrounding country every winter.

Edwin Lord, who owns one of the finest farms in Sonoma Valley, suffered considerable loss by the high water of this week, which broke over the banks of Sonoma Creek and greatly damaged his property. Mr. Lord is one of Sonoma Valley's enterprising farmers and as he suffered a similar loss last year we think it about time the elements let go on him and seek some other victim.

Trout fishing is all the rage at present. Jo Anderson, Chas. Ohm and Wm. Fowler, the well-known sportsmen, landed several this week that weighed between one and two pounds. The waters of Sonoma Creek are too muddy for good fishing but if the rain holds off for a few days some fine catches will be made. The second run of salmon is now showing up.

LEAP YEAR PARTY.

The ultra swell affair in Sonoma was the leap year ball given by the '96 Club on Friday evening of last week at Union Hall. It was the most brilliant gathering brought together in this valley for many years. It was a night when the ladies held full sway. The hall was a scene of much beauty with it's decorations of Chinese lanterns, smilax, and evergreens. From fern streamers were suspended strings of Chinese lanterns and against the walls were banked tall ferns, added to this was the flowers of Sonoma's society—the buds, the belles and matrons—in pretty and becoming attire. Altogether this was a charming sight. Promptly at nine o'clock the grand march was led by Miss Mamie Stevenot and Prof. Ben. Weed, and after a number of pretty figures had been gone through with the march culminated in a dreamy waltz. At midnight a supper was spread in the dining room adjoining the hall. After supper dancing was resumed and joy was unconfined until early morn. During the evening many fines were collected from the gallant gentlemen, who showed any courtesies to the ladies. Petaluma music was engaged for the occasion, and the floor was ably managed by Miss Mamie Stevenot and her assistants. The expenses of the entire affair were assumed by the nine young lady club members and the able manner in which everything was arranged and managed was satisfactiory to all.

Among the handsomo costumes we may mention the following :

Miss Maud Young, yellow and black silk, richly trimmed in black lace.

Miss Mary Burke, stylish gown of white silk.

Miss Bessie Knight, figured crepe.

Miss Ora Lawrence, a becoming toilette of figured crepe and lace.

Miss Rue Tate, white crepe.

Miss Clair Hope was attractively gowned in cream nuns veiling and lace.

Mrs. Erskine, cream crepe and black velvet ribbon.

Miss M. Cornelius, pink crepe and ribbons.

Miss Celia Granice, cream crepon, lace and ribbon.

Miss Katie McDonell, pale blue India silk and valenciennes lace.

Miss Ella Durant, accordian plated costume of yellow silk.

Miss Mamie Stevenot, ivory silk crepon, tastefully trimmed in dark green velvet.

Miss Clara Cheney wore a very becoming gown of yellow silk and white silk lace.

Miss Mamie Church, pink and black gown.

Miss Maude McGill, green crepe and velvet.

Miss Annie Perry appeared to advantage in white silk and chiffon-decolette.

Mrs. A. McGill, white silk richly trimmed in lace en train.

Miss Maggie Stevenot, decolette gown of white mull.

Miss Hilda Lidstrom, a petite blonde, appeared in a silk and gauze costume decolette.

Miss Sullivan of San Francisco appeared in a red costume.

Mrs. Burlingame of San Francisco, handsome costume of sea green and black silk ; ornaments, pink roses.

Miss Stella Johnson of San Francisco, red silk crepe and black chantilly lace ; ornaments, chrysanthemums.

Miss Shattuck of Petaluma, red nuns veiling.

Miss Kate Lewis of Santa Rosa, red crepe, prettily trimmed with red chiffon ; ornaments, diamonds.

Mrs. Mills of Bloomfield, chic pink and black costume.

Miss Lolita Harasthzy, heavy brocaded silk of sea green and white decollette; ornaments, pearls. This stylish costume was the handsomest of all and was worn by Miss Harasthzy's mother, a daughter of the late Gen. Vallejo, at the Lincoln inaugural ball in Washington, 1861.

Miss Pauline Bates wore a striking costume of yellow silk and gauze ; ornaments, diamonds.

The following were present in addition to those mentioned above :

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hotz, Mr. and Mrs. Angel, Mr. and Mrs. Bruchner, Mr. and Mrs. Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. McGill, Mr. and Mrs. McGill Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ohm, Mr. and Mrs. Burlingame, Mr. and Mrs. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Granice, Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Riser, Mr. and Mrs. Weyl Jr., Mr. Mrs. Clewe and Mr. and Mrs. Agnew.

Mesdames Prestwood, Knight, Lutgens, Emparan, Stevenot, Carr, Albertson, Pauli, Gottenberg, Perkins, Davis, Appleton, Haraszthy, Bates, Weems, Carriger, Platt, Perry, Schroeder.

Misses Katie Clancey, Alma Platt, Teresa Goess, Nellie Stevenot, Bertha Campbell, Jessie Carriger, Lizzie Carriger, Ella Van Every, Mabel Sellers, Hannah Voight, Minnie Cook, Teresa Fochetti, Theo Bates, Anita Emparan, Julie Granice, Lenora Stevenot.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, FEB. 1, 1896.

A Story of Ransom.

The Washington Post tells a story illustrating the politeness of Minister Ransom. One day, when he was in the senate, as he was going down the capitol steps, he saw approaching a very dull, long winded man. Ransom was alarmed. He was in no mental or physical shape to bear the brunt of a full fledged bore just at that moment. He must do something to save himself. As the dull one drew near, Ransom, in his desperation, greeted him with shortness and hurried by. The other had paused, but at this brief dismissal, as it were, turned away up the steps. Ransom was smitten of conscience at his own rudeness. It was foreign to his polite and flowery instincts. He must do something to take the soreness out of the man. Ransom turned pleasantly when some ten steps separated him from the bore and called out: "Goodby, Simpkins! I've been thinking a mighty heap about you lately, Simpkins!" At this Simpkins began to betray symptoms of returning. "But don't come back, Simpkins," remonstrated Ransom, wildly motioning with both hands, "I've been thinking a mighty heap about you lately, Simpkins, but don't come back; don't come back!"

Conkling and Thurman.

Senator Roscoe Conkling was once addressing the senate in an impassioned manner and seemed to direct his remarks to Senator Thurman. At length the latter got irritated.

"Does the senator from New York," he roared, "expect me to answer him every time he turns to me?"

For a moment Mr. Conkling hesitated, and everybody expected a terrific explosion. Then with an air of exquisite courtesy he replied:

"When I speak of the law, I turn to the senator from Ohio as the Mussulman turns toward Mecca. I turn to him as I do to the English common law as the world's most copious fountain of human jurisprudence."

The usually decorous senate broke into a storm of applause, and the Thurman eye moistened a little. It is ever a pleasure to be complimented, but to be complimented as a lawyer by Roscoe Conkling—that was praise indeed. The two statesmen were the best of friends and greatly enjoyed each other's society when "off duty."—Baltimore American.

The "Bad Man's" Sense of Humor.

A young man from way down east had gone to Denver armed with an old fashioned Allen revolver—"pepper box" that weapon was called in those days.

In a gambling house one night he became involved with a "bad man" in a quarrel and drew forth his "pepper box." The "bad man," who was really a tough citizen from the mountains, and who had not the remotest idea of fear, and who was always armed with a pair of big navies, threw up his hand in well feigned dismay and said:

"Heavens, man! You ain't a-goin to throw that at me, are you?"

For the sake of his joke he spared the young man's life, and to that one of the wealthiest and most respected citizens of Denver now owes the fact that he is doing business in the western metropolis. He is a monument of that border man's sense of humor.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Witty Judge.

The late Lord Bowen, besides being a great judge, was also a great wit, and many interesting bonmots of his are being recalled just now. On the occasion of the queen's jubilee the judges were drawing up an address to the queen. "Conscious as we are of our shortcomings," ran the address. "Conscious as we are of one another's shortcomings," suggested Lord Bowen.

Sometimes his wit was very incisive, as, for instance, when he remarked: "Truth will out—even in an affidavit." Not the least happy of his recorded witticisms was the remark he made when congratulated on his appointment to be a law lord. He would, he said, find the work easy, his duty being to give his opinion after so many others had given theirs. "In fact, I only have to agree, and might well have been raised to the peerage as 'Lord Concurry.'"

The American farmer will probably be surprised to learn that there are 10,122 different models of plows in the Patent Office, on all of which patents have been issued.

An Old Soldier's Recommendation.

In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteers, Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhoea. Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief it would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent rellef and no bad results follow. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all of my old comrades, who, while giving their services to their country, contracted this dreadful disease as I did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food. Yours truly, A. E. BENDING, Halsey, Oregon. For sale by all dealers.

KIDNEY.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from kidney trouble for two or three years. I would have to get up in the night to void my urine from ten to fifteen times. My sleep was disturbed and I became very thin and nervous. No appetite; bowels constipated. I have taken two bottles and gained fifteen pounds. Sleep well. Have to get up about three times during night, and am very much better in every respect. Will continue to take your Vegetable Sarsaparilla, for believe it will entirely cure me. Signed. MR. EDWARD. Frog Egg Curiosities.

Frogs' eggs are laid before they really become eggs in the true sense of that word. They are always laid under water, and when first deposited are covered with a sort of envelope in the shape of a thin membrane. In this shape they are very small, but as soon as they come in contact with the water they rapidly absorb that element, and in so doing go through a queer transformation. The thin membrane containing the little seedlike eggs is quickly changed into great lumps of a clear jellylike substance, each section joined to the other, the whole forming a string from a few inches to several feet in length. On the inside of each of these lumps of jelly the eggs come to perfection, and in due course of time add their quota to the frog population of the world.—St. Louis Republic.

He Won His Bet.

One must take the word of an archdeacon, or I should be inclined to request further particulars in the case of the patron whom Archdeacon Wilson mentioned at the conference at Carnforth the other day. A certain living—so said the archdeacon—had fallen vacant by death. The patron summoned to him his legal adviser, who explained that the presentation must be entirely gratuitous. "But," added the lawyer, "I will bet you £1,000 that you do not present my son-in-law." Curiously enough, the son-in-law was the lucky man.—London Realm.

No Danger.

"My dear," said young Mrs. McFlimsey to her husband, "I do wish you would not go about the house in your shirt sleeves. People will think your father worked for a living."

"They won't when they know his son."—Detroit Free Press.

PRICKLY ASH, POKE ROOT AND POTASSIUM

Makes Marvelous Cures in Blood Poison Rheumatism and Scrofula

P. P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels diseases, giving the patient health and happiness where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

For primary, secondary and tertiary syphilis, for blood poisoning, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, boils, erysipelas, eczema—we may say, without fear of contradiction, that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world, and makes positive, speedy and permanent cures in all cases.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition, due to menstrual irregularities, are peculiarly benefited by the wonderful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P.—Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 14th, 1893.—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 35 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.

ABERDEEN, O., July 21, 1891.
MESSRS LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: DEAR SIRS—I bought a bottle of your P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Ark., and it has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs. Send three bottles C. O. D.
Respectfully yours,
JAS. M. NEWTON,
Aberdeen, Brown County, O.

Capt. J. D. Johnston.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby testify to the wonderful properties of P. P. P. for eruptions of the skin. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. I tried every known remedy but in vain, until P. P. P. was used, and am now entirely cured.

Skin Cancer Cured.

Testimony from the Mayor of Sequin, Tex.

SEQUIN, TEX., January 14, 1893.
MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief; it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,
CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.

GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.
We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.
